WHEN YOU THINK DANCE, THINK SOUTHERN MISS.

USM is an accredited, institutional member of the National Association of Schools of Dance.

The University of Southern Mississippi is recognized as Mississippi’s flagship University for the arts. We present significant arts events, and our arts graduates achieve national and international success in their fields.

The Arts Institute of Mississippi (AIM) facilitates and coordinates special projects, outreach activities and strategic initiatives in the arts. AIM collaborates with Partners for the Arts to support music, theatre, dance, creative writing, art and design, entertainment industry and film projects at Southern Miss. Our mission is to be a structure that allows and invites arts departments to work together more closely, to promote arts programs, and to engage in global outreach.

AIM is also a liaison to other arts organizations around the community, state and nation. AIM unifies the arts under one umbrella, makes a public statement about the importance of the arts to Southern Miss, and enhances the University’s international image as an arts institution.
